Mayor's Court.

His Honor W. P. CANADAY, Mayor, presiding.

Only three cases were heard this morning; viz:

Nathan Jones and Lizzie Deon, for fighting were fined $5 and cost each, or 10 days on the streets. They closed the latter, and are now (to-day) serving out their term of sentence.

THE all-gone feeling which people sometimes speak of, is caused by want of proper action of the liver and heart. These may be assisted, and the bowels regulated, by Parsons' Purgative Pills in small doses.

Corn and flour are staple articles; but not more so than Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, where known. It is good for children or adults, for any internal soreness of the chest or bowels, and the best Liniment prepared, under whatever name.

To the Republican Voters of New Hanover County.

You are hereby notified that there will be a County Convention at the City Hall, in Wilmington, on Saturday June 6th, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating a Senator and three (3) Representatives to the Legislature, a Sheriff, a Superior Court Clerk, a Coroner, a Register of Deeds, a County Treasurer, a County Surveyor, Five (5) County Commissioners and a new County Committee.

Each Township in the county, each ward in the City of Wilmington, and the town of Lillington will be entitled to three (3) delegates.

The Republican voters in the several Country Townships will meet at their usual voting places at 12 o'clock noon on Friday, May 29th, to choose delegates to the Convention.

The Republican voters in the several wards in the city of Wilmington, and in the town of Lillington will meet at their usual places of meeting at 8 o'clock p. m., Friday May 29th, to choose delegates to the Convention. The polls in Wilmington will be closed at 9 o'clock p. m., and the ballots counted.

In case of one or more contesting delegations from any Ward or Township presenting themselves at the Convention, the County Committee reserves the right to decide which delegation shall take part in the organization of the Convention.

By order of Republican County Convention.

VERY dusty.

CLOUDY to-day.

ALL quiet along the Cape Fear.

THERE were two alarms of fire yesterday.

IN to-day's Post we publish the report of the condition of the First National Bank of this city, which shows a very flattering exhibit.

COMPLIMENTARY CONCERT.—We look forward with pleasure to the complimentary concert, tendered to our Cornet Concert Club.

CAMP MEETING.—A camp meeting will be commenced on the 20th, inst. at the old camp grounds, about twelve miles up the Cape Fear River.

SPEAKING.—There was speaking at the Market House, speaking at the Court House, and speaking—well, never mind. All this took place last night.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Isaac Bates, Teller of the Bank of New Hanover, leaves to-night for New York, from which he is to embark for Belfast, Ireland, on the 16th inst.

REGATTA.—The Carolina Yacht Club promise as the first regatta of the season, some day between the 1st and 10th of June. The regatta is to take place on the Cape Fear, and a severe contest it will be.

THE DALTON ENTERPRISE.—A new journal has just been started at Dalton, Georgia, by Messrs. Hanbury & Co., with Mr. T. E. Hanbury, editor. The first number was laid on our table this morning, and an interesting paper it is, as such we recommend its perusal.

THE EXPERIMENT.—This barge went down the river this morning, conveying a goodly number of invited guest. We wish them a merry time, and that the Experiment will not prove a failure. We have no fear of her running onto Coney Island, if she is deeply laden with Lem(mer)(m)(o)(n)'s.

LOSS.—We learn that Sergeant Kuhl, of the police force, had a valuable milch cow drowned a few days ago, whilst she was grazing in the marsh near Smith's Creek. She became imbedded in the mud to such a depth that she was compelled to remain in that position, until the rising water put an end to her suffering.

TO THE STAR.—Will the Star man inform us when the Superior Court met in this city, and if trivial cases of misdemeanor, such as drunkenness, fighting and creating a disturbance on the streets, are disposed of by this tribunal? In the Star's issue of this morning he tells us that several cases were tried before the Superior Court on yesterday. If our memory serves us right these cases were disposed of before the Mayor's Court. Perhaps it is a typographical error!

S. W. VICK, Esq.—One of our exchanges says: "Charlotte, N. C., has a Swiss who claims to be one of the survivors of the lost steamer Atlantic."

Well, what of it? We have a Vick in Wilmington, who not only claims to be one of the survivors of that ill-fated ship, but absolutely is. Yes, indeed, Mr. S. W. Vick, a clever gentleman and the senior partner of the extensive mercantile establishment of Vick & Mebane.

ALMOST A FIRE.—Last night about 11 o'clock, Officer Richard Sherwood, while near the residence of David S. Cowan, Esq., corner Third and Mulberry streets, discovered a blaze in the kitchen of this gentleman, and rushing to the scene, he burst open the outer door, and entering the premises, soon broke down the kitchen door, and at once entered, when he found that the building was on fire, both on the lower and upper floors. The fire, to all appearances, was inside the ceiling.

At the time the officer entered, all the occupants of both the residence and kitchen were asleep, and consequently were oblivious to the presence of the devouring element, which was rapidly gaining ground.

The officer at once awakened the occupants, and several neighbors, who began to battle with the flames, which were soon overcome.

Owing to the promptness of this officer, a terrible conflagration was prevented.

ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, May 13.

The parties had a sharp skirmish yesterday, with varied results, when the Federal troops interfered, and the mobs returned to their quarters. The Baxterites lost a horse and one man slightly wounded. It is reported that the Brooksites had eight killed and wounded.

Soon as the skirmish on the outskirts yesterday was known in the city, Col. Rose gave orders to have it stopped. One company formed behind the barricade, forcing Baxter's line with loaded guns, and got ready to prevent their advance. Another company, under the command of Lieut. Noble, marching towards the battle-field, halted half way and the officer went ahead, Brooks' men being behind the rifle pits on the side of the hill, which were thrown up when Markham street was being graded. The firing had been quite brisk on both sides. Baxter's forces had been driven over the opposite hill between the Cairo and Fulton Railroad buildings. The forces were about three hundred yards apart. Col. Rose was soon seen riding towards Baxter's lines, which had then moved back towards the city.

Lieut. Morrison and Col. Rose both galloped to different points to stop the firing. Their efforts were ineffectual, however, and the firing now became sharper and fiercer towards the city. Now the regulars marched between, but soon came back to their original position. The firing between the pickets was non-intermittent.

Baxter sent out infantry to support White when a few blocks from the State House, and passing it they fired at the advanced Brooks pickets. His company, when one block from the State House, fired a volley back, and the Baxterites retreated in good order. Several were seen to fall.

The Brooks forces were under the immediate command of Col. Brizzolari. Towards evening King White's command moved back towards the end of the town. The fighting during the afternoon occurred in the early settled part of the city; the women and children were scared badly.

Lieut. Morrison of the regulars was shot at three times by one man, a Baxterite. Morrison was on horseback at the time and endeavoring to prevent bloodshed. He drew a pistol to return the fire, but it snapped.

Small Means.

The power of money is the whole, over-estimated. The greatest things which have been for the world have not been accomplished by rich men, or by subscription lists, but by men of small pecuniary means. The greatest thinkers, discoverers, inventors and artists have been men of moderate wealth, many of them little raised above the condition of manual laborers in point of worldly circumstances. And it will always be so. Riches are often an impediment to a stimulus to action; and in many cases they are futile as much a misfortune as a blessing. The youth who inherits wealth is apt to have life maimed too easy for him, and he soon grows sated with it, because he has nothing left to desire. Having no special object to struggle for, he finds time heavy on his hands; remains morally and mentally asleep, and his position in society is often no higher than that of a polytup over which the tide floats.

Books.

Books are no doubt very useful helps to knowledge, and in some measure also to the practice of useful arts and accomplishments; but they are not in any case the primary and natural sources of culture, and their virtue is not a little apt to be overrated, even in those branches of acquirement where they seem most indispensable. They are not creative powers in any sense; they are merely helps, instruments, tools; and even as tools they are only artificial tools, superadded to those with which the wise provision of nature has equipped us, like telescopes, and microscopes, whose assistance in many researches reveals unimagined wonders, but the use of which should never tempt us to undervalue or to neglect the exercise of our own eyes.—John Stuart Blackie.

James Gordon Bennett, of the Herald, has recently appeared in a new role, that of a walkist, he having walked a distance of ten miles against one John Whipple, a young lawyer, the stakes being $3,000 a side. The race was from Mr. Bennett's residence at Thirty-eighth street on Fifth Avenue and Jerome street, Bennett walking the distance in 1 hour, 46 minutes and 55 seconds, beating Whipple some 7 minutes. It is said that Bennett won some $12,000.

Gen. D. H. Hill wanted to be Democratic candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, and he said in his paper that no one was entitled to run for office who didn't have a good war record. The Democratic State Executive Committee seem to coincide with the General in his view of this question, for they didn't nominate him.—Baltimore Era.

Among several other items of general intelligence, a Missouri paper mentions the following: "The State Senator from this district is a liar, a coward, and a horse thief, and he can find us in our office any time during business hours."

OBITUARY.

With pain we feel called upon to record the death of Mrs. MAGGIE GALLOWAY, wife of F. M. Galloway, Esq., who, after a long and painful illness of consumptive character, passed away from us, at her home at Lookwood's Ferry, Brunswick county, May 6th, 1874, to her home in Heaven, aged 49 years, 8 months and 17 days.

She was an amiable, charitable, hospitable, kind, generous and unassuming lady, and had greatly endeared herself to all who knew her. We feel assured that in her death a true and noble soul has been called to the throne of her God, and that she will be reunited to her dear friends, and a large circle of relatives and friends, whom she has lost, but they are consoled by the thought that their loss is her eternal gain.

It is true she was not a member of any church, but a few weeks before her death she became concerned about her immortal soul, and she had been attending the Divine will, and bid adieu to time and the things of time, and added that she would take her exit from this earthly world to that beautiful land beyond the river.

Where the surges cease to roll, Mourning fond husband, grieve not sons and daughters, but make preparation for their beautiful land, and let us follow her. She was a kind and affectionate mother, a loving and indulgent mother, and an ever faithful and sincere sister; and we are impressed that she is to-day basking in the sunlight of God's presence, with the angelic host of Heaven.

Long will the writer dwell upon the memory of this amiable lady, and reflect often on her many virtues, with pensive but fond delight.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

To JOHN SMYTH, Esq., in the midst of your fascinating discourse, your brilliant versions upon Sumner's last "consideration," his later-day doctrine of civil rights, you have suddenly broken the spell wherewith master minds only can bind their audience, not so much by the announcement of the I fear premature—news of D. Rumley's removal, as by the bold untruth assigned by you, as cause for said depreciation.

The removal of that man of purposes industrial, will imbedded professions, character, intellect, is not sought by the man, who know him too well, for the reason stated by you, that of having displaced the white man, shoemaker, by the black man, Mabson, but because the dismissal of a worthy subordinate was effected by him, solely on the ground that during the late investigation held here by Special Agents, upon the charges preferred against D. Rumley, Mr. Shoemaker would not testify, would not perjure himself in favor of his official superior, the Collector. Nor was Mr. Mabson retained into Custom Service for the love of either the man or his race and the rights of his race, but because latterly Mr. Mabson became the first rival and foremost competitor for the office of Collector. If Mr. Rumley is an official corpse to-day, it is not because he came to his death from foul blows inflicted upon him by the hand of J. C. Abbott, No; Rumley has not been slaughtered; he suicided. Self love both stupid and base killed him. As a Republican, of faithful and of advanced ideas, and as an abator of all nuisances, moral and physical, I cannot lament the sudden political demise of the Collector as either unjust, unmerited, or too soon.

The Republican Rally at the Court House Last Night.

In response to notice given in widely distributed handbills on yesterday, there was an immense gathering of Republicans at the Court House last night to hear what might be said by our recent legislators—members of the General Assembly—that passed the amendment to the city charter bill that has within the last few weeks excited so much comment and criticism, and as a result of which we have, in addition to the old Board of Aldermen, now holding over, another Board, which have applied to be installed in office, and failing in which, we learn, are about to take legal steps to test the question before the Courts of the State.

The meeting having been organized by calling Mr. Joseph C. Hill to the chair, Wm. McLaurin, Esq., Hon. Geo. L. Mabson and Mr. James Heaton, representatives from this county, went into lengthy explanations of their course in the Legislature regarding the matter, and were eagerly listened to by the interested audience.

Col. Thomas B. Long, of Salisbury, being observed in the Court room, was invited to address the meeting, which he did in his usual happy and forcible style, proving that he is indeed one of the wheel horses of the Republican party of North Carolina. His brave, manly words of cheer, assuring his hearers that the good old North State would roll up full twenty thousand majority for the party of Liberty and Progress in August next, were received with great satisfaction and tremendous applause.

Mr. John H. Smyth was called for, and responded in a lengthy speech, in which he reviewed the action of the meeting at the Market House on the night before, and expressed himself generally on the topics of interest now before the people.

J. J. Cassidey, Esq., made a short talk, in which he urged the necessity of peace, harmony and concert of action, on the part of all Republicans and a determination to re-elect Daniel L. Russell to the Judgeship of the Fourth Judicial District. Mr. Cassidey announced himself a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Superior Court of the county.

Other gentlemen were addressing the meeting at the time our reporter left, and it was long after midnight before an adjournment was had.

We were pleased to see so many of our political opponents present, and we are sure that they were benefited by hearing good sound Republican doctrines, spoken out in a good sensible way. There was never a more orderly and satisfactory public meeting held in Wilmington than was the Republican rally at the Court House last night.

Our Candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Our young and able standard bearer Mr. T. R. Purnell, met and vanquished the veteran, yet feeble Democratic candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, Col. S. D. Pool, at Halifax, on the 4th inst. The old man proved unequal to the contest, lost his temper, and hounded about, presenting a most pitiable spectacle. Mr. Purnell dealt his blows thick, to the mark, and, as the loud and frequent cheering showed, with decided and permanent effect.

Mr. Purnell has just reason to be assured of a triumphant success, and the Republican party of a great victory. Col. Pool is old, irritable, of no expansive power, and many years behind the age. Mr. Purnell is young, far advanced for one of his years, in every way qualified for the position for which he is a candidate, and can keep even pace with the demands of this rapidly advancing age.

Mr. Purnell made an equally successful col. at Warrenton on the 6th inst. Col. Pool did not meet him there—he was routed at Halifax on the 4th, and it is supposed has not been able to collect his scant and scattered mental forces.—Era.

Don't be Discouraged.
Don't be discouraged if, in the outset of life, things do not go smoothly. It seldom happens that the hopes we cherish of the future are realized. The path of life in the prospect appears smooth and level, but when we come to travel it, we find all up hill, and generally rough.

Press Convention.

The following is the order of proceedings to be observed on the occasion of the Press Convention in this city to-day, (Tuesday, 12th inst.):

The Association will meet in the Senate Chamber at 10 o'clock, a. m. At 3:30 o'clock, p. m., the members of the Press will assemble at the National Hotel, and from that point visit the Insane Asylum, leaving the hotel promptly at 3:40 o'clock p. m.—Carriages will be in waiting. At 8 o'clock, p. m., members will reassemble in the Senate Chamber for business.

On Wednesday at 10 o'clock a. m., the Association will assemble in the Senate Chamber, and adjourn at 2 o'clock, p. m. At 3:30 o'clock, p. m., the members of the Press will assemble, at the Yarboro House, where carriages will be in waiting, and visit the Penitentiary. At 4 o'clock, p. m., will visit St. Mary's school. At 4:40 o'clock, p. m., Baptist Female Seminary; thence to the Peace Institute; then drive through the city, reaching the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind Institution at 7:30 o'clock, p. m. At 10 o'clock, p. m., they assemble at the Yarboro House as guests of the Board of Trade of the city of Raleigh.

At 8 o'clock, a. m., on Thursday, the members of the Press and other invited guests will assemble at the Central Depot at the hour named for an excursion to Haw River. At Durham the train will stop one hour, the Tobacco Association at that point having extended the hospitalities of the town for the occasion. The excursionists will be entertained by Messrs. Holt & Moore at 2 o'clock p. m., at Haw River. The complimentary dinner will be given by Col. T. M. Holt, President of the North Carolina Agricultural Society.

The galleries will be thrown open to visitors, and the ladies are especially invited to attend.—Raleigh Era.

Two or three years ago Lwas attached to The Morning Argus, the only paper published in our village, and during my engagement as employed as an assistant editor a young man named Drinker. When Drinker began his duties, the manager said to him:

"See, here, Drinker, among other things, I want you, whenever you see, in the exchanges or anywhere, a good biographical sketch of any prominent man, to clip it out and put it away, so's when he dies, you understand, we can rush it out as an obituary article, as it were."

Drinker went to work, and about two months afterward some well known man died, and I examined the obituary bureau for the purpose of obtaining his history. It was not there; but I discovered that the insidious Drinker had stored away in that mortuary receptacle one biographical sketch of John Wesley, a collection of anecdotes about Gen. Putnam, and an essay upon "The Life and Services of John Hancock."

I commenced with Drinker upon the subject.

"Mr. Drinker," I said, after calling his attention to the article about the father of Methodism, "you must certainly be aware that John Wesley died long before you came into this office."

"N-n-no," exclaimed Drinker, with a look of pained surprise in his face. "Wh-wh-what! John Wesley dead! That great and good man gone! Thunder! Why, it's too bad. No, I hadn't heard of such a thing. I had no idea of such a thing. What a shock it must have been to his family!"

"And as for Gen. Putnam, Drinker, it is perfectly absurd for you to pretend that you thought that he was alive, you know. Come now, that's too much."

"Is he dead, too? Well, well! The fact is, I've been living down in the country for two or three years, and haven't kept the run of things. And so old Putnam's dead! That noble old man. Strange, strange, how we are passing away."

"And, Drinker, you certainly can't be such an idiot as to have put away this article about Hancock with the expectation that he would die again.—You know he did die once. Why, Drinker, he died about ten thousand years ago."

"Come, now!" exclaimed Drinker, exultingly, "I've got you there. Ah! ah! Died ten thousand years ago, did he, smarty? You know too much.—You think everybody's a fool but yourself! Dead, is he? Now, what's the use of your trying to stuff that down me, when I know well enough that the Democrats talked about running Hancock for the Presidency at the last election! O, pshaw! You ain't fit to write for any paper that's got any sense."

Then Drinker was discharged. I didn't enlighten him. He will probably go down to the grave with the firm conviction that General Hancock is the man who set copy for the miserable penmen who signed the Declaration of Independence.—Max Adeler.

Waste no Time.

After allowing yourself proper time for rest, don't live a single hour of your life without doing exactly what is to be done in it, and going straight through it from beginning to end. Work, play, study, whatever it is, take hold at once and finish it up squarely and clearly; then to the next thing, without letting any moments drop out between. It is wonderful to see how many hours these prompt people contrive to make of a day; it is as if they picked up the moments that the dawdlers lost. And if you ever find yourself where you have so many things pressed upon you, that you hardly know where to begin, let us tell you a secret. Take hold of the very first one that comes to hand, and you will find all the rest fall into file and follow after like a company of well-drilled soldiers; and though work may be hard to meet when it charges in a squad, it is easily vanquished if you can bring it into line.

All Soldiers' Graves to be Decorated.

The decoration association of Illinois has resolved that no distinction shall be made in their selection of the graves to be strewn with flowers on Decoration Day. A number of Confederate soldiers lie buried in the vicinity of Chicago, and their resting places will receive the same kind of attention as will the graves of the Union soldiers.

The Supreme Court of the United States Decides for Prohibition—Not an Inalienable Right.

The Supreme Court of the United States, in a case appealed from Iowa, has recently decided that a State can enact and enforce any and all prohibitions of the sale of intoxicating liquors, as the right to sell them is not one of the immunities and privileges of a citizen which the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution forbids the State to abridge.—N. Y. Christian Weekly.

Chief Justice Taney said: "If any State deems the retail and internal traffic in ardent spirits injurious to its citizens, and calculated to produce idleness, vice or debauchery. I see nothing in the Constitution of the United States to prevent it from regulating or restraining the traffic, or from prohibiting it altogether, if it thinks it proper."—Howard, 577.

Webster a Chesterfield.

Daniel the profound has a good word or so on manners. He thus discourses: "We should make it a principle to extend the hand of fellowship to every man who discharges faithfully his duties, and maintains good order; who manifests a deep interest in the welfare of general society, whose deportment is upright, and whose mind is intelligent, without stopping to ascertain whether he swings a hammer or draws a thread. There is nothing so distant from all natural claim as the reluctant, backward sympathy, the forced smile, the checked conversation, the hesitating compliance, the well-affected apt to manifest to those a little down, with whom, in comparison of intellect and principles of virtue, they frequently sink into insignificance."

A Girl that Bets to Win.

Mr. John Fishback, proprietor of the Indianapolis Sentinel, wagered one hundred dollars with a young lady niece that she couldn't "hold her tongue" for a week. The young lady, very unexpectedly, "took him up," and unless she speaks within the next two hours (it is now 4 o'clock, p. m.), the gentleman will have the one hundred to pay in cash.

During the week he has corded her to the opera, and although he has done his best to get her to speak, and hired other members to "trap" her yet she has resisted all their efforts.—On last Thursday the journalist offered to compromise the matter and pay her fifty dollars, but the proposal was scornfully rejected.

Once there was an Emir who had a very obsequious servant named Deeb. One day Deeb brought to the Emir a dish of steamed badijan, which pleased him so much that he said it was the best dinner he had eaten for months.—Deeb bowed to the earth and said, "Your Excellency, there is nothing like the badijan. Its fruit is good, its leaf is good, its stalk is good, and its root is good. It is good roasted, boiled, stewed, fried and even raw."

Now the Emir was hungry, and he ate so much that he was made very ill. So he called Deeb, saying, "You rascal, this badijan you praised so highly has nearly killed me." Said Deeb, "The badijan is the vilest of plants. It is never eaten without injury. Its fruit is injurious, its leaf is injurious, its stalk is noxious, and its root is the vilest of all. It is not fit for pigs to eat, whether raw, roasted, stewed, fried, or boiled. Your Excellency, there is nothing so bad as the badijan." "Out with you, you worthless fellow! What do you mean by praising the badijan when I praise it, and abusing it when it injures me?" Said Deeb, "Am I the servant of the badijan, or of your Excellency? I must say what pleases you, but it makes no difference whether I please the badijan or not."

Five Legal Distinctions.

Turner's dog had bitten off Hadley's cow's tail, and there was conflict in the testimony as to whether the dog was acting on his own free will, or whether he was obeying the commands of his master. The jury would have been troubled to make a verdict, had it not been for the following very explicit instructions of his Honor, the Court:

First—The Court instructs the jury that if they believe from the evidence beyond the influence of a reasonable doubt, plaintiff's cow's tail was bitten off by defendant's dog, they should find for the plaintiff, and assess his damages at such sum as they think the tail was proven to be reasonably worth, not to exceed the amount claimed in the petition.

Second—The Court further instructs the jury that if they believe from the evidence that the dog was acting on his own responsibility, and not under the control of defendant, then the case partakes necessarily of the nature of a proceeding in rem, and they must find for the defendant and against the dog.

Third—The Court at the instance of defendant's attorney further instructs the jury that a cow knoweth not the value of a tail until after she loses it, and in assessing the damage they have a right to take into consideration all the facts and circumstances in the case; the disadvantages as well as the advantages of a cow's tail; the value to the cow, the information gained by the loss of the tail, and deduct said sum from the total assessment.

The jury retired and returned with a verdict in the words and figures following, to-wit: "We, the jury, find for the plaintiff one dollar and fifty cents. Sam Potts, foreman."

POND'S EXTRACT CURED BY MARSHAL'S OFFICE,

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 22, 1874.

NOTICE.

I WOULD MOST RESPECTFULLY CALL the attention of the citizens to the fact that the warm and sickly season is near at hand, and it becomes my duty to adopt the most stringent sanitary measures at this particular time to preserve the health of the city and prevent the introduction of disease that may originate from foul and unwholesome matter, filth, garbage, trash and refuse matter which has a tendency to create unwholesome and offensive odors. In order to prevent as far as possible the spread of those diseases peculiarly incident to this season of the year I would most respectfully solicit the co-operation of the citizens generally in placing our city in such a sanitary condition as to render it as far as practicable impregnable, at least to those diseases which originate from foul and unwholesome matter, filth, garbage, trash and refuse matter, and anything that would impair the health of the city, and any complaint lodged at this office shall receive prompt attention. Believing that a proper sanitary condition adopted now, at this early season, will insure a healthy summer I earnestly solicit the aid and co-operation of all the good citizens to accomplish this good end.

Respectfully, &c., GEO. W. PRICE, JR., City Marshal.

WELL DIRECTED EFFORTS

Are Sure of Success!

As an evidence of this, it has been a little over three weeks since we purchased, as we thought, a stock of goods sufficient to carry us through the seasons of Spring and Summer.

To-day we find ourselves out of many leading articles, which we purchased in endless variety. These goods we have had to re-order, with other new
